Target Audience: This one-day conference is designed to inform and benefit academic urologists involved in the education, supervision, and evaluation of residents in post-graduate training programs in urologic surgery.

Goal: The goal of this meeting is to allow attendees to integrate a course in Interpersonal and Communication Skills (ICS) into their urology curriculum and to learn about possible changes in the program requirements for specialty training in urologic surgery.

Educational Objectives: After attending the meeting, participants should be able to:

- Cite the core competencies required for successful completion of specialty training
- Teach urology residents core interpersonal and communication skills
- Discuss the advantages of fundamental surgical skills training
- Identify common requirements from ACGME for accreditation of urology residency programs
- Describe the shift of the ABMS to maintenance of certification (M.O.C.)
